

Linda Engström

singer * songwriter * artist

Amongst these roses

In this silence after the storm the one I seek remains unknown
While the world is bleeding tonight
She has spoken but have we truly heard? Beneath the water
Like a drowning bird who pierced through the surface to find the light.

CHORUS:

Taste these tears as if they were your own
Then leave me here amongst the concrete and the stone
So different from where you've gone, you've gone.

Amongst these roses, amongst these thorns
A holy vision of our path is born
The one I seek remains unknown no more
As snakes they crawl through the desert sand
The wisdom spreads across the sea and land
Until it speaks to us from our very core.

CHORUS: x 2.

OUTRO: